Introduction

L'inconscience et la conscience, et donc la science, sont aussi anciennes que la vie.

Les idées scientifiques résultent d'un long et continu processus d'abstraction ayant commencé chez l'homme primitif.

Les premiers humains parvinrent à compter.

D'autres réussirent à raisonner en termes de distances et d'angles.

D'autres encore se mirent à rapporter ces idées au temps.

Enfin, certains se mirent à penser en termes d'essences quelconques évoluant dans le temps.

Ayant compris le génie de Léonard de Vinci (1452-1519), pour qui la mécanique était le Paradis de la science, Galileo Galilei (1564-1642) initie une révolution scientifique en proclamant que ce sont les mathématiques qui sont le Paradis de la science.

Après lui, les scientifiques séparèrent clairement "la matière", "l'espace" et "le temps" dans leurs raisonnements, qu'ils représentèrent sous forme mathématique.

En mécanique le travail se poursuit dans deux directions principales:

- la cinématique, décrivant les mouvements de la matière dans l'espace et le temps, et,
- la dynamique, décrivant les transferts d'énergie provoquant ces mouvements.

Au début du 19^{ème} siècle, parallèlement au développement de la machine à vapeur, la thermique, science de la chaleur, fit son apparition.

Vers le milieu du 19^{ème} siècle les scientifiques intégrèrent la thermique et la mécanique dans un ensemble plus vaste qu'ils baptisèrent "Thermodynamique".

A la fin du 19^{ème} siècle, l'énergie électromagnétique fut également intégrée à la thermodynamique sans que celle-ci ne change de nom.

Au début du 20^{ème} siècle, l'énergie chimique fut à son tour intégrée au corpus scientifique de la thermodynamique.

Au milieu du 20^{ème} siècle, les scientifiques ajoutèrent encore l'énergie nucléaire à la thermodynamique.

A la fin du 20^{ème} siècle, la thermodynamique est devenue la science universelle de l'énergie physique.

Au début du 21^{ème} siècle, les progrès constants des machines à calculer depuis le début de l'humanité permettent de simuler la pensée.

Intégrée à la systémique et à l'automatique, la thermodynamique, science de l'énergie physique, devient la systématique, science de l'énergie généralisée, dont les idées constituent

"Le nouveau Paradis de la science".

Words

Supporting ideas.

Articles

Identify whether a noun is definite (specific or particular) or indefinite (unspecific and general).

Nouns

Words that denote a thing, material or immaterial.

Word by which something is designated and distinguished from others.

Nouns that follow a linking verb are energetic nouns. They serve to rename or re-identify the subject.

Subjects

Nouns or pronouns of the persons or things doing, performing or controlling the energetics of the verb.

Objects

Nouns or pronouns that complete the meaning of the verbs and prepositions.

Any group of words that functions as a noun can be an object.

Pronouns

Words that are used in place of nouns to designate persons or things asked for, previously specified and understood from the context, the antecedents,

Adjectives

Modify nouns as well as any part of speech functioning as a noun.

Attributive adjectives can appear directly before or after the noun they modify.

Predicative adjectives always appear after the noun they modify, connected by a linking verb to describe or modify the subject.

They are always part of the energetics.

As subject complement, they describe, identify or rename the subject.

Whereas most verbs describe the energetics a subject implies, linking verbs describe something about the subject, which is completed by the subject complement.

Verbs

Words that asserts, declares, predicates.

Part of speech that expresses actions, interactions, processes, events, happenings, occurrences, or resulting conditions or states of being of people or things caused by the energetics of the verb and contained in the object complement revealing what the direct object has become by renaming or requalifying the object with a new name or describing or modifying the object with an adjective or describing the intended or desired action of the object with an infinitive verb.

Past and present participle are object complements describing what the object is or was doing.

Adverbs

Word used to limit or extend the signification of a verb,
but also adjectives and other adverbs.

Prepositions

Relation words.

Preceding the final adverbial modifier.

Placed before and governing a noun obliquely showing it's relation to a noun, adjective or verb.

Used with nouns, adjectives and verbs, to express the relationship of a noun or pronoun to the rest of the context.

(in, on, for, to, of, with, about, since...)

(Place, time, direction, movement, agency, instrument, device, reason, purpose, connection, origin)

Prepositional phrases can either function as adjectives, modifying nouns and pronouns, or adverbs, modifying verbs, adjectives and adverbs.

When a proposal follows a linking verb, especially "Be", it functions as a predicative adjective, describing the subject which must be a noun or a pronoun.

Conjunctions

And, or, not, because.
Binding ideas together.

Prefixing

Affixes are morphemes with a particular meaning that are added at the beginning or at the end roots or base words to change their meaning.

Prefixes can only be derivational and not be also inflexional like suffixes.
Prefixes are always derivational creating a word with an entirely new meaning
Adding a prefix always changes the meaning of a word.
Adding a prefix always change the basic meaning of the word.
Added to the roots to change their meaning.

Prefix locative particles

Derivational suffixing

Suffixes can be derivational and inflexional
Creates a word with an entirely new meaning.

Nouns from nouns

Verbs from adjectives-ate

To act on, cause to become, be modified or furnish with.

Verbs from adjectives and nouns

Verbify the name or quality of the event.

-ate

To act on, cause to become, be modified or furnish with.

-en

To come or cause to have.

-ify

To make, do or cause to become.

-ize

To become or cause to become.
To make, do or cause to become.

Adverbs from adjectives

-ly

In a certain or specific manner.

Adverbs from adjectives and nouns

-ly

At that interval, the noun being the unit of time.

-wise, ways

In a specific position, direction or manner.
With reference or in regard to.

Adverbs from adjectives, nouns and adverbs

-ward

In a specified position or direction

Adverbs from prepositions

Adverbial proposition word.

Semantic unit with surface discrete sequenced structure.

Denoting the result of the event.

The prepositions become particles of the verb by suppressing the following noun or pronoun, object, showing it's straight relation to the verb.

Particle verbs using prepositions to build adverbs, prepositions being relation words.

Directional precision brought by the particle.

Up, down

On, over, under

To, at, about, aside, by, from, past

Toward, away

Forth, back

In, into, out

For, off

With, without

Along, around

Sta-

Stand, set down, make or be firm, place or thing that is standing.

Une relation donnant le carré de l'intervalle entre deux points.Valable quelque-soit le nombre de dimensions grâce à l'axiome d'homogénéité de l'espace qui stipule que tous les points sont équivalents, y compris l'origine.La distance est une notion invariante dans la transformation relativiste.Pour une sphère tridimensionnelle centrée à l'origine, par exemple, la distance donne l'équation de tout point de la sphère en fonction de son rayon r:

$$r^2 = x^2 + y^2 + z^2$$

Idem pour une sphère quadridimensionnelle, en particulier celle de l'espace-temps:

$$r^2 = x^2 + y^2 + z^2 + t^2$$

*Toute rotation de l'espace autour de l'origine considérée comme fixe est telle qu'un point situé à une certaine distance de cette origine se déplace sur l'hypersphère de rayon r. La distance est donc conservée lors d'une rotation, ce qui est conforme à la théorie de la relativité dont les équations peuvent être mises sous forme d'une rotation de l'espace-temps.Divergence

Departure from a norm. Failure to approach a limit.

-D-, -VR-*Separation, difference, varying, departure, disparity, deviation.Divergere, divergens, divergentia

Go in different directions.

Departure from a course or standard.

Wer, vergere, aerein, svaru, sverti, swar, svarr, schwer

Raise, lift, hold suspended, weigh.

Heavy.

Weard, weorthan, wyrd, gwerthyd

Toward.

Fate, destiny, what befalls one.

Exergy

Maximum amount of useful work that can be obtained from a system, during a process that bring it to an equilibrium with a reservoir of energy, with an environment.

Energy available to be used.

After the system and the environment has reached an equilibrium, the exergy is zero.

Contrary to energy, exergy is always destroyed when a process involves an irreversible process as loss of heat to the environment.

The destruction is proportional to the entropy increase of the system together with it's surroundings.

The destroyed exergy is called anergy.

For an isothermal process, exergy and energy are interchangeable terms, and there is no anergy.

Exponent

Symbol placed up right of another to indicate by what number the base is to be raised.

-E-, -EX-, -P-

Group

-G-, -R-, -GR-, -KR-, -KN-, -GN-, -P-

Groupe d'opérations mentales

ayant certaines propriétés et dont le nombre est infini.

Les rotations, par exemple, sont en nombre infini car elles sont spécifiées par un angle qui peut être quelconque.

Il existe donc une loi de composition des opérations du groupe.

Cette loi de composition doit obéir à certains postulats.

De manière générale, si l'on compose deux opérations du groupe, l'opération résultante doit appartenir au même groupe.

La composition de deux rotations, par exemple, doit encore être une rotation.

Le groupe doit avoir une opération neutre, c'est-à-dire une opération qui, composée avec une autre opération du groupe, redonne la même opération.

Une rotation d'un angle nul, par exemple, est l'élément neutre des rotations.

Chaque opération du groupe doit avoir une opposée telle que si on compose une opération avec son opposée on retrouve l'opération neutre.

Pour les rotations, par exemple, c'est une rotation en sens inverse d'un même angle.

Enfin, la composition des opérations du groupe doit être associative, c'est-à-dire qu'on puisse faire des composition successives d'opérations en les regroupant différemment entre elles dans le même ordre.

En plus d'être associative, l'opération peut être commutative, ce qui donne un groupe dit commutatif, c'est-à-dire que l'ordre des opérations n'a pas d'importance.

L'opération d'addition sur des nombres, par exemple, constitue un groupe commutatif.

Gruppo, group, kruppaz, crop, crop, knoppr, knopf

Rounded mass, assemblage forming a whole, cluster, lump, sprout of herb, protuberance.

Kn-, cn-, gn-, gnu-, n-
Mass.

Knack, knap, knave, knead, knee, knife, knight, knit, knob, nkot, know, knuckle, gnat, gnaw, gneiss, gnomon, gnostic

Knot, knotto, cnotta, knuttan, knutr, knutte, knoten, knob

Interwining of ropes, cords.

Gordian knot, knothead, knotty, knotweed, knotwork, log, slipknot, topknot.

Groupe mental

L'espace constitue un groupe mental homogène (tous les pommes sont équivalentes) et isotrope (tous les vomes sont équivalents).

Growth

Wachstum, anstieg, aufschwung, zunehement, aufsteigend, steigend.

Space

Les humains commencent à abstraire l'idée d'espace de l'expérience directe de ce dernier sans toutefois s'affranchir totalement des émotions.

Une conception primitive de l'espace permet de partager de l'information dans la famille et le groupe.

Des mesures indispensables à la vie en commun donne peu à peu des généralisations comme la distance et la surface, par exemple, des concepts purs, donc, mais toujours limités à des idées d'intérêt pratique.
